In The Legislature

BY GEO E. BELL, M.L.A.
Again through the courtesy of your editor, these weekly summaries are appearing in this paper giving some of the highlights of the Legislative Assembly when it is in session.

The Hon. J. E. Bowes, Lieutenant Governor, read a speech from the throne, which document forecast some of the legislation coming before the present Session.

Another topic of particular interest to farmland politicians relates to two former members, the late Norman E. Cook of Olds and Dr. J. L. McPherson of Lethbridge.

There is one other item of interest this year caused by the resignation of Dr. J. E. White, the member for Grouard. Dr. Wood sent in his resignation previous to the Session, relinquishing his legislative work to the Hon. D. A. Ure, Minister of Highways.

A number of members in the House this far have advocated driver's tests and the more strict enforcing of highway traffic regulations. A number of bills for the protection of people under the influence of liquor.

In reporting on the activities of the Department of Agriculture for the first year, the following information covers some of the main points of the report of the Hon. D. A. Ure, Minister of Agriculture.

The farmer's income in 1950 was up one hundred million dollars less than in the previous year, even though the amount of agricultural production was higher. Poor harvesting conditions were partly responsible for this.

Through the District Agricultural Councils, the Department of Agriculture was planned throughout the province designed to show the value of good seed, fertilizers, proper pasture mixtures, true varieties of grain as well as the use of legumes in farmyard systems. Farmers in this work should get fuller details from their district agriculturist's office.

Surveys of soil conservation last year showed that where milk cattle were kept the soil was in the best condition. The soil in the areas where there were no cattle were too poor for any crops planted to legumes and that the average farmer was pulling his machinery too far during farming operations.

The Salvation Army

Sunday, March 11, meetings will be conducted in the Auditorium of Eventide Home at 2.30 and 7.30 p.m. by Captain and Mrs. Hansen.

Wednesday, March 14, S. Major and Mrs. Parkinson will conduct the United Church services in Arrowwood, Cluny and Gleichen.

A cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend these services.

Civil Defence

A knowledge of first aid procedure will be invaluable in case of war. Air Vice-Marshal G. R. Howsam, provincial defence controller, said in the last of a series of public statements on civil defence.

He suggested that service clubs, church auxiliaries, study groups and community leagues take up the St. John's Ambulance Association courses as soon as possible as most civil defence workers would be required to have some first aid training.

He told how citizens could help Alberta civil defence organizations by learning how to protect themselves and their families, and by serving in civil defence jobs.

"Your civil defence committee will soon be calling for volunteers for the various positions. Think it over now and be ready to do your best work in. Civil defence workers are ordinary people whose daily life has equipped them to fit into a special place in the civil defence organization."

Air Marshal Howsam said auxiliary fire-fighters, policemen and first aid workers were needed urgently. Rescue crews also would be required and special crews would be trained to use searchlights to detect and measure radioactivity.

Evacuation centres would have to be provided for people evacuated from

New Plymouth Model - The Savoy

The Plymouth Savoy offers an outstanding combination of utility, beauty, comfort and low cost. It is a sedan, a station wagon or with the country club it's really three cars in one. It has the riding comfort of a sedan — the smart styling and all around usefulness of a station wagon — and in seconds, it converts to a spacious cargo carrier.

Red Cross Annual Appeal For Funds

From experience gained in peace-time disaster service, the Canadian Red Cross has taken a new initiative in the field of disaster preparedness, within its own organization.

Major-Gen. C. Munn, national chairman of the society's disaster service, said at the end of the first year in the Red Cross' national appeal for funds, $500,000 had been raised.

Emphasizing that Cross disaster assisted in more than 600 disasters in Canada last year, including Red River floods, the Moose River flood, and the Canoe River train-wreck,

General Munn declared that never have the peace-time demands on Red Cross services and funds been so great.

"As Canadians from coast to coast, for the needs of civil defence, Red Cross is training its personnel and consolidating its plans, we trust you will never have to be put into a disaster which we must respond to and we are ready to take the role in our civil defence which the government assigns to us.

In addition to our new task of assisting in the preparation of the Red Cross must still be prepared for our traditional responsibility of meeting the needs in all national disasters of natural origin while hastening without delay the relief of those affected.

Disasters are that we may be prepared with evacuation, shelter transportation and feeding on a mass basis in the event of a civil disaster emergency."

Colonel "Cyclone" McPherson, our disaster controller, across the country are now called into action for action.

Building a Better Community

We think that our town is a good place in which to live. We do not, however, believe that this town, or any other town for that matter, can not be improved in many ways.

What can and still can it do for progress or progress?

What can we, each one of us do to help build a better community here?

How can we reasonably sure that our town will go ahead in 1951?

Too many people in our town, content to leave such progress as has been made to the town council the board of trade or to other organizations, have given up the right to think, to speak and to spur on the development of the community.

Here are a few suggestions which, if each one of us put them into effect, would ensure some progress to make our town a better place this year:

1. Be an active member of at least one community organization.

2. Develop the habit of being on time for meetings and other functions.

3. Visit some and different places near and attractive.

4. Be a booster of our town, not a knocker.

5. Develop in ourselves a progressive attitude.

6. Be friendly to one another and to strangers.

7. Work together for the common good.

If all of us in our town decided that this year we would do just a little more, we could help to build a better community, we might be surprised at the great progress that could be achieved.

When turned loose to eat at will,

Midgets Defeated By Hillhurst

Friday night the Hillhurst-Sunnyvale Midgets eliminated the provincial play-off Midgets from the provincial playoffs at 4:2. Hillhurst won the first game 5-4 and Hillhurst 6-5 in the round being 9-6 in favor of the Canadian team.

The game here was witnessed by a large crowd and the Hillhurst-Sunnyvale team had a large crowd at the arena in a decade. Since the Gimmers were in their hay-day were so many hockey fans to be seen the bleachers were packed.

Hillhurst entered the second game one goal down. Evidently the visitors were told to put on a power play at the opening of the game.

Whether or not they were told to do that they did it in seconds scored the first goal of the game.

That second goal just as quick. Near the end of the period Kasciorf scored for Gleichen.

In the second period Gleichen held the lead in the Hillhurst end most of the time. Neither side scored.

The visitors made two counters in the third and Gleichen one. The local lads had far more shots on the Canadian team than the visitors had on Gleichen.

Gleichen appeared to be anxious to score. Hillhurst waited until they got close in to shoot. They appeared to be better trained on what to do when near the net than the local boys.

The Gleichen Midgets have no excuses to offer for their defeat. The game was billed to be played on Tuesday night but was postponed on account of the weather. The game was being held in the cold. Some of the spectators were ill with the flu. Some got out of sick beds to play. No doubt sickness took a lot of pep out of the boys.

Colonel "Cyclone" McPherson, our disaster controller, across the country are now called into action for action.

Albermarle History

(By R. W. GRIESENHAGEN)

An incident not often related in 1802 which gives an indication of the way of life of those days.

Walter W. and three other cowboys were riding the range south of Macleod. They saw a man running rapidly southward, and assuming he was aiming for the boundary and safety, they rode hard and overtook him.

The unknown fellow was a man called "the man who kills men" and shot a Frenchman the night before in an amusement hall in Macleod.

Mr. Wake decided to investigate and found that Dublin had been as drunk as a skunk. He had started about the lights when the Frenchman interfered.

Lobkin shoved the muzzle of his gun against the other's stomach and pulled the trigger. The Frenchman fell to the floor at the sound and the man had only faintly. Dublin forgave him for drink, did not know this and as assuming the man was dead he left in haste on the back of a strong fast horse.

HE MAVEICK

The Spaniards brought range cattle into Mexico. From there the industry spread naturally into Texas, where it has been very successful.

The Texans had great difficulty in keeping track of their herds until a man from Ireland named Maverick hit upon a scheme of marking them with hot irons, each owner to have a separate and distinctive brand.

The stockmen thought this was a splendid idea. Then Maverick who did not like to part his cattle heard pointed out that if all other ranchers used brands, it would make it difficult for him to identify his cattle with red hot irons. So the unbranded cattle would belong to him. The ranchers thought this would be O.K. and requested him for his tenacity of heart.

When the next roundup came the cattle were all branded from the unbranded stock followed. The increase in the Maverick brand was immediately noticed. The stockmen then realized that the Irishman had a good idea. They put one over on him and insisted that he must brand also even if it broke his tender heart.

From that time forth an unbranded cattle became a rare sight and everywhere was a "Maverick."

A New Census

PREPARES ARE NOW BEING MADE for taking what is called officially "the new decennial census of Canada". The census is taken in ten years and it will provide important information regarding changes in population in Canada since the last census was taken in 1941. The last ten years have seen great expansion in Canada in industry and in the development of natural resources. They have likewise seen unprecedented rises in prices, personal incomes, and employment rates. During a part of that period there has also been considerable immigration and all these factors will in one way or another influence the facts which will be gathered by census takers throughout the country.

Important For Many Reasons The taking of the census is important for a number of reasons. According to the British North America Act, representation in the House of Commons is based on population, and this is regarded as the main legal reason for the decennial census. Payment of provincial subsidies on a per capita basis too are dependent upon information gathered through the census. It also shows the rate of population growth, part of the census is used to analyze and give a composite picture of the social and economic progress made in the last ten years. Figures compiled through the taking of the census are used as guides in the administration of many of our public affairs and social services.

Estimates Are Taken Yearly Between 1931 and 1941 the population rose from 10,376,786 to 11,606,655, an increase of 10.9 per cent. In the same period the population of the three Prairie Provinces decreased by a quarter of a million, while British Columbia gained about 8,000 new citizens each year. The first census was taken in 1871 and since 1931 there were 3,215 persons here in that year. Estimates of population are taken annually for purposes of compiling vital statistics and through these, records of change in population are kept. However, the census which is taken every ten years is the legal basis upon which many matters pertaining to public affairs in Canada are based and the taking of the census in June of this year will be an interesting and important event.

Electric Lights For Community 250 Miles North Of P.A.

PRINCE ALBERT.—For the first time in the history of the province, light will blaze on the shores of Sault Lake, 250 miles north of Prince Albert.

According to government officials here, the lighting system at Sault Lake was switched Feb. 24.

"Only four years ago Sault Lake was the most remote and most backward place in northern Saskatchewan," stated an official, "today this settlement is as advanced as any in the province."

The community had grown quickly during the past few years with the introduction of gardening, livestock, especially fish hauls and a trading post.

Garden Notes

Harriet, Easter and Butter

To anyone who hasn't looked at a seed catalogue for several years there will be a lot of things there to interest you. There are new ones—there are tender and larger beans, sweet corns, new and much better varieties in all kinds of vegetables. There has been steady improvement.

It is now so many years since corn was practically unknown in Prairie gardens that it is not surprising to find it introduced into Southern Ontario about the beginning of the century. Today one can buy ears of corn in almost any north. The reason? Earlier maturing varieties.

And a good deal has been done in corn as has been done in beans, cucumbers, tomatoes, etc., in the last few years of other things. By getting varieties that mature faster, the plants can be raised earlier. Canadian handicap of late and early frosts. In the modern seed catalogues there is a good deal of information as to the number of frost-free days it takes to grow individual varieties. This is vital information for the gardener, especially in those very limited areas where the first frost of the season may bring danger to plants that are particularly sensitive.

For Better Soil

Even the most uninteresting soil has great possibilities. Look what some city gardeners have done with the assorted blue clay, mortar and sand that is left over after grading up the backyard. Almost anything will break down in time in the soil. It is a good idea to add manure or used for drainage. With very heavy soil, lying fairly tame, this can be done by installing the drain, although an open drain will do well enough. Also it is a good plan where the soil is not too dry to add sand or ashes.

After this, the next best thing is to have a good light soil about 18 inches deep. The main thing is to get plenty of humus and cultivate. Humus can be made from old manure, ordinary manure—grass cuttings, straw, or even old green weeds.

The next best thing is to have a good plan to grow a crop of clover. Fall rye, oats or some other grain will do well under this. After a few years the soil will then be in much better condition.

"Are you happy?" she asked. "I am that." "Now you're in heaven," she said. "You're happier than you were with me."

The spirit voice replied: "I'd better tell you straight—I'm not in Heaven."

The spirit had been put on heat plan. At the end of each month she and her husband would go over the accounts together. Every once in a while he would say, "I'm not in Heaven, and I'd like farther on 'H.O.K. $3'."

Finally, he asked: "My dear, what is this—H.O.K.?"

"Heaven only knows," she replied.

Teacher: "What is it that binds us together, sustains us, and makes us even better than nature intended?"

Tommy: "Grief."

"I can only spare a few cents, my man. We're all sharp up these,"

"Thankies, kind sir, sir. It's the poor as 'elp the poor', as some body said in the play I was watching on my television set last night."

Mother: "And I'll kiss you with that dirty face."

Small son: "That's what I figured."

"What makes you think your husband is delirious, Mrs. Robinson?"

"The way he says 'Christo'?"

Mister: "I'll just place a larger hand in each corner of the table, Mary, I suppose they used finger bows at your last place?"

Mary: "Oh, no, num! They always want to be here before they come to the 'table'."

The parents of a solemn little boy were perturbed at his morbid outlook on life. They were sending him off by train to relatives to live with them. They wrote him a card and addressed on a card and put it in his pocket. The boy did so, beginning: "In the event of an accident, that was my last will and testament."

Teacher: "Are you sure you read your lessons over to yourself?"

Little Marjorie: "Yes, but perhaps I wasn't listening."

Mrs. Brown: "Has the new doctor any children?"

Mister: "Yes, a girl who is a budding genius, and a boy who is a blooming nuisance."

A widow, who had been less than kind during 25 years of married life, tried to get in touch with her estranged husband through a medium.

WINNIPEG.—Older living people of Manitoba's Lethbridge district is an 88-year-old woman who remembers when Winnipeg was little more than a prairie city and buffalo grazed the prairies.

Farm Loans To Continue

OTTAWA.—The government plans to increase its lending for farm improvement loans by $136,000,000, officials said here.

A notice on the commons order paper said that the government plans to extend the farm improvement loans act for another three years.

The act allows the banks to enter the short and intermediate-term lending field, to grant loans to farmers on live stock, farm buildings and other farm security.

Previously, the government promised to guarantee all "ans up to a total of $400,000,000 in loans on all farms," said the notice.

Harold McWilliams, head of forest services, said about 7,000,000 ac. of land will be put in the ground during the two-month planting season.

This will bring the total planted area to $2,000,000 trees on almost 100,000 ac. of land and logged-out areas. Of this total private companies have planted about 10 per cent.

The 100-year-old seedlings now being lifted all the three forest nurseries. About 350 men will set out 100,000 ac. of seedlings over timberland on Vancouver Island. Wages will be around $1.02 an hour.

Mr. McWilliams' predecessor at Great Church (in downtown Winnipeg) was a mass of tents. Mrs. Rigall was a widow and I thought our tent was too large."

Later the couple moved to Lethbridge to take up farming. She has managed a herd of buffalo and tramping across the potato field and running the crop.

"Our first home was just a tent, and we had to go to the weathered wood in the roof. We had an umbrella over our two men," she said.

Mrs. Rigall spends the winters with her daughter in Winnipeg, but she visits Lethbridge in summer. She is looking forward to going out again this year," she says. "There's nothing like the country."

Your gift means life

To countless victims of accident on the highways, in the fields and factories, your gift to support the Red Cross Free Blood Transfusion Service is the gift of life itself. For many Canadian hospitals depend on the Red Cross for their supply of wonder-working plasma.

Today, too, civil defence plans in towns and cities coast to coast give new emphasis to the vital need for ample reserves of blood plasma. Give generously . . . the life you help to save tomorrow may be your own!

CANADIAN RED CROSS

$5,000,000 is needed to support Red Cross services for Disaster, Veterans, Free Blood Transfusion, Outpost Hospitals and Civil Defence Training.
